ALBURY LIBRARY MUSEUM

BUILDING FOUNDATIONS: BUILDING PLANS FROM THE LOGAN AND FA STOW COLLECTION

UNTIL AUGUST 8

This display of Stuart Logan and Alan Stow's building plans and documents hark back to an era when plans were drawn by hand with colour and flair. Come and see the original drawings of many buildings still standing in Albury and district " building plans and documents drawn and coloured by hand. The Logan business closed around 1980 and Albury Library Museum was the recipient of tools and house plans, donated by the family. The Stow Collection, also donated to the Library Museum by Mr Stow's family, helps chart the built environment of Albury and districts. Richard Lee's book about Logans and our built environment will be launched at the official opening. Free entry.

EXPERIMENTA SPEAK TO ME

UNTIL JULY 13

Australia's leading media art organisation brings another interactive and fun exhibition to town. Presented by Experimenta, the Experimenta Speak to Me 5th International Biennial of Media Art is an invitation to consider what it means, at this time, to be together. As the capacity for connectedness is integrated more into our lives, it affects our daily actions and the way we communicate. In a rapidly changing technological field, it is timely to consider these new relationships- to the world, technology and each other. What does this connectedness now offer us? Experimenta Speak to Me is a dynamic showcase of emerging and experimental artworks by leading media artists from Australia and around the world. Visitors to Experimenta Speak to Me can expect to see a range of artworks from thoughtful and contemplative screen-based works, to charming and elaborate installations, projections and robots as well as a number of new Experimenta Commissions.

WIRADJURI TALKBACK

ONGOING

Wiradjuri Talkback is a celebration of the perspectives and traditional knowledge of the Albury-Wodonga region's Aboriginal people, showcasing a powerful and thought-provoking blend of traditional and contemporary elements illustrating the rich cultural traditions of Wiradjuri country. BURKE MUSEUM, BEECHWORTH

BEECHWORTH HISTORY

OPEN DAILY*

Originally built as the Beechworth Athenaeum in 1857, The Burke Museum is one of Australia's oldest museums and is considered a "Museum of Museums" with its significant collections from the 1800s and contemporary internally produced and touring exhibitions. Following the death of Beechworth's former Superintendent of Police, Robert O'Hara Burke (of Burke and Wills fame) at Coopers Creek in 1861, the Athenaeum was renamed in his honour as The Robert O'Hara Burke Memorial Museum. Highlights include the RE Johns Aboriginal, Chinese and Natural History collections, The Ned Kelly Story including the Burke Museum Ned Kelly Collection plus The Street of Shops, a 19th century recreation of a Beechworth streetscape. Beechworth and the Ned Kelly story are inextricably linked. All four members of the Kelly Gang spent time in Beechworth Prison. Ned appeared in the Beechworth Courthouse on August 6, 1880 on a charge of murder. Kelly's mother Ellen also appeared in the Beechworth Courthouse and was held in the Beechworth Prison for a short time. The Burke Museum is in Loch Street, Beechworth. WANGARATTA ART GALLERY

PETITE: MINIATURE TEXTILES

UNTIL JULY 27

PETITE: Miniature Textiles is a biennial exhibition held by the Wangaratta Art Gallery that is growing in stature and prestige. From over 200 entries, 116 works by 97 artists from across the country have been selected for this fourth PETITE exhibition, which showcases the diversity of approach in textile artistry. Tapestry weaving, lace, sculpture, applique, assemblage, embroidery, felting, basketry and dyeing. These techniques are used to create works that are not only decorative but often tackle deep and meaningful themes and concepts. The only stipulation for entrants is size which is limited to a maximum 30cm in any direction. The beauty of the landscape and the fragile nature of our environment provide inspiration for many of the artists such as June Brown with her textile book Why I Love Eucalypt Trees, Deborah McArdle's sculptural work Marking Winter and Julie Paul's woven tapestry Costal Weavings Series. The fragility of human life and remembrance has been explored in a very poignant work by John Parkes: Sample (dead two years now) a work using cotton cloth from his late father's shirt and shorts. An Art Lovers Talk to complement the exhibition will be presented at 10am on Wednesday, July 16 at 10am. Bookings essential " phone (03) 5722 0761.

WANGARATTA VISITOR INFORMATION CENTRE EXHIBITION SPACE

DAYDREAMS BY THE RIVER

JULY 2 to JULY 30

Venue: Exhibition Space, Wangaratta Visitor Information Centre, Murphy Street, Wangaratta

This body of work comprising 10 lakescapes and 10 contemporary textile pieces is based on a reflection of two years studying textiles in South Australia under teachers Julia Morris, Suzzane Gummow and Cathy Boniciolli and workshops with textile tutors Jane Callender and Carol Wilkes. The lakescapes are interpretations of Ricci Simone's photographs of Lake Mulwala and the Murray River. Sunsets over the lake are calming and inspiring. These 10 lakescapes are painted on hand-dyed raw silk and embellished with hand stitch beading and applique. The 10 contemporary works show a vast repertoire of textile techniques such as printing, hand stitch, foiling, machine embroidery, applique and multiple layering techniques. Free entry. Open 5.30pm to 7.30pm. Opening night 5.30pm to 7.30pm, July 2. The Wangaratta Visitor Information Centre is at 100 Murphy Street, Wangaratta.

BENALLA ART GALLERY

NEW ORDER

UNTIL AUGUST 24

Louise Paramor is one of Australia's most well recognised and celebrated sculptors and is widely known for her creative vision for residual and ephemeral materials. She was recipient of the prestigious McClelland Sculpture and Survey Award in 2010 and in 2012 her monumental sculpture "Panorama Station" was commissioned for the Peninsula Link Freeway. Paramor works with found objects and plastics that are especially tactile and often striking in colour " characteristics that, not surprisingly, evoke an irresistible sense of whimsy and play. This exhibition showcases a selection of consumer-based plastic sculptural works, collage and abstract paintings on glass that challenge traditional readings of contemporary detritus in a fun and lurid way. There is also a serious side to Paramor's practice and the significance and indeed resonance of her artwork can be found within religion, architecture, modern day urban life and today's heavily consumerist culture. "I really enjoy experimenting with colour and abstraction ... and inspired by the very substance of paint itself " I have become more interested in the principles of modernist abstract sculpture and painting, and the cliches thereof, which in turn, informs my approach to the genre," Paramore says.

BENALLA NUDE 2014

UNTIL JULY 13

The human figure without clothes " it is each of us, at some point, every day. And so we celebrate that, be it in the humble function of bathing and dressing, or some grander reflection of ideals, philosophical concerns or cultural traditions. The Benalla Art Gallery presents the first Benalla Nude art prize. The exhibition will be a selection of short-listed works, from which the winning work will be awarded the $50,000 non-acquisitive prize. Information: www.benallaartgallery.com/benallanude.

ALBERT TUCKER " PORTRAITS

UNTIL JUNE 29

Albert Tucker was a major figure in the Australian modernist movement, which challenged the foundations of traditional art practice and adopted a spontaneous and visionary approach to the creative process. Throughout his career, he painted significant portraits of his contemporaries and loved ones. Sitters included Tucker's colleagues in the so called Angry Penguins group or "Heide circle" " Joy Hester, Sidney Nolan, Arthur Boyd and John Perceval. This exhibition presents 10 of Tucker's most important portraits that transition through various periods of his artistic development, leaving a thread that connects a great portion of his oeuvre.
