Win two Premium Economy return tickets from London Heathrow to Dubai with Qantas as the airline celebrates one year of flying to the Emirate.

Fly to Australia - from Heathrow to Sydney or Melbourne, via Dubai - with Qantas aboard its award-winning A380.

On March 31, the carrier marks one year since it began travelling via Dubai and it would like to give one lucky Business Traveller reader and a guest the chance to celebrate and experience the superjumbo for themselves.

Qantas A380

Qantas believes your journey should be as memorable as your destination, so provides four comfortable cabins - First, Business, Premium Economy and Economy - to accommodate the needs of passengers.

For complete luxury, relax in your own private world in one of only 14 First suites. At the touch of a button, your private dining suite for two becomes a long flat, wide bed. You can dine a la carte or, if you prefer, enjoy an eight-course tasting menu with a friend.

When flying Business, you will find a dedicated upper-deck, 64-seat cabin with your own fully-flat Skybed reclining to almost two metres in length, with a mattress and duvet for extra comfort. A Neil Perry-designed menu can be enjoyed when it suits, complemented by a multi-award-winning wine list.

And, the onboard Business lounge means you can meet with a colleague, and then catch-up on movies you haven't had the chance to see.

The award-winning Premium Economy cabin offers more room and more comfort, in the private 35-seat upper-deck. Self-service snack bars offer a range of refreshments around the clock. It feels special and it is, with extra wide seats and leg rests to stay comfortable. There's a big screen for entertainment, and a menu inspired by Neil Perry with wines to match.

Qantas A380 Premium Economy

Qantas A380 Premium Economy

Qantas' International Economy is about delivering a friendly and helpful service in a comfortable and restful environment. The Qantas A380 Economy seat is ergonomically designed and the Economy cabin boasts self-service snack bars that offer a range of refreshments around the clock.

Passengers can also fly from regional destinations across the UK, thanks to Qantas' partnership with Emirates, and on arrival in Australia, can make the most of easy connections across the Qantas domestic network of over 50 destinations.

Become a Qantas Frequent Flyer to enjoy even more rewards by earning points across the Qantas, Emirates and Oneworld networks.

To be in with the chance of winning a pair of Qantas Premium Economy return tickets from London Heathrow to Dubai, correctly answer the question below.

How many seats are in the private upper-deck Qantas A380 Premium Economy cabin?

14 March 2014: Business Traveller Magazine: Etihad to up its Moscow services to triple daily

[Company Release] Etihad Airways will increase its services between Abu Dhabi and Moscow to double daily from June 1 and triple daily from October 1. The Gulf carrier currently operates seven flights per week to the Russian capital's Domodedovo airport, a route it launched in 2008 (see news, August 2008). The additional services will open up more connections to destinations including Bahrain, Bangkok, Doha, Johannesburg, Perth and Singapore. Etihad plans to deploy a two-cabin A320 aircraft on the triple daily service, meaning 5,712 seats a week - 672 in Pearl Business class, and 5,040 in Coral Economy. In 2013, passenger volumes on the route rose 36 per cent compared to the previous year, achieving double-digit growth for the fourth consecutive year, the airline said. James Hogan, Etihad's president and CEO, said: "The UAE is home to almost 25,000 Russians and 400 Russia-UAE joint venture companies, and as a result, the business and cultural ties between the two countries have never been stronger. "With flights three times per day, Etihad Airways provides more convenient services to Abu Dhabi, the UAE and across our global network. "Etihad Airways will offer 31 per cent of the weekly frequencies between the UAE and Moscow, providing more direct flights than any other carrier." The flight schedule will also boost onward codeshare connectivity with S7 Airlines beyond the Russian capital to the cities of Kazan, Krasnodar, Saint Petersburg and Samara. etihad.com Source: Company Website

14 March 2014: Business Traveller Magazine: United expands tarmac transportation to SFO

[Company Release] United Airlines has this week expanded its tarmac transportation service to San Francisco International Airport. The chauffeur service, operated using Mercedes-Benz GL-Class vehicles, is offered to some Global Services members and United Global First passengers who connect at SFO to a domestic or international flight. Where possible, United staff surprise Global Services and United Global First customers with applicable itineraries who may have tight connections and will drive them across the tarmac to their connecting flights. United tarmac transportation service The service had previously only been available in Chicago, Houston and Newark, where it was introduced in January (see news, January 29). Jimmy Samartzis, United's vice president of customer experience, said: "We are delighted to offer our busiest travelers, for whom time is so important, another way to make their travel easier and more convenient. "With the tarmac transfer service, our investments in the new Boarding Area E in Terminal 3 and new terminal facilities to come, we are strengthening San Francisco as the region's premier hub and the nation's best trans-Pacific gateway." united.com Source: Company Website
