The S&P/ASX200 closed down 20.3 points to 5292.1 on very light volume worth $2.5 billion. There were 447 issues higher and 561 down. The SPI Futures closed down 32 points to 5258 points on light volume of 11,475 contracts - well below the physical and a bearish indicator. Aussie 10 year bond yields are down 9 points to 4.23%. The $A is at 90.27US c, up about 30 points from Saturday levels.

*The banks have contributed 13 negative points to the index, resources have contributed 0.4 positive points, property trusts have contributed 0.4 positive points, retailers have contributed 2.5 negative points, Telstra has contributed 0.5 negative points.

*At 4pm AEST the Nikkei Dow futures was closed on holiday, Shanghai CSI physical was down 1.16 points to 2012.14, Hang Seng futures was down 57 points to 22,806 points, S&P futures was down 4.6 points to 1833.10, Nasdaq futures was down 8.25 points to 3553.25 and Dow futures was down 40 points to 16,341 points.

Gold futures fell $2.50 to $1249.40. Crude futures fell 32c to $92.40.

While some MSCI markets rose, including South Korea, the Philippines and Indonesia, Australia was down, China physical and the Hang Seng fell and US market futures were weaker with the surprising low December numbers a dampener on the US recovery story.

Gold and some metals benefited from the improved metal prices while the sharp fall in the banks puzzles.

"High 5333. Low 5280. Close at 5294, down 18 points"

Daniel Goulding, the author of "The Sextant Market Report" said, "Our market looks set to open slightly lower with our local futures contract down 4 points.

"My technical work suggests a new rally high is likely with late January a likely timeframe. My work also suggests it is part of a topping process on an intermediate term basis. At this stage I am agnostic as to whether it is the penultimate or final top. "The weakness in precious metals over the past two years is signalling a liquidity event in the pipeline. This event is impacting the bond market at present. Equity investors are always last to receive the memo.

"Watch the Japanese yen, it is the canary in the coal mine.

"The high today will be 5333. The low will be 5280. When the dust has settled the market will have closed at 5294, down 18 points".

The S&P/ASX200 closed down 12 points to 5312.4 on Friday evening.

*TLS: Sells 70% of Sensis for $A454 mln, will book $A100m loss in int

Telstra Corporation announced it has entered into an agreement to sell a 70% interest in its directories business, Sensis to US based private equity firm, Platinum Equity for $A454 million. The sale excludes the voice services business and includes economic benefits to Telstra from services it will continue to provide to Sensis. Telstra will retain a 30% stake with Sensis, now valued at $649 million.

Telstra said in the report Platinum Equity specialises on business operations and has had 18 years of success. 2013 transactions included carve outs from AP Moeller Maersk, CBS, CheckPoint Systems, Emerson and Deutsche Post DHL.

The transaction price is equal to a multiple of 2.4x Sensis' full year 2014 forecast EBITDA after adjusting for the voice directories business which is being retained by Telstra and stand alone costs of operating the business, consistent with valuations for recent directories transactions globally.

The sale proceeds of $A454 million are incremental to Telstra's full year 2014 free cashflow guidance of $A4.6 billion to $A5.1 billion. Telstra expects to book an accounting loss on Sensis of approximately $A150 million, subject to completion timing and adjustments. Approximately $A100 million is expected to be included in the December 2013 half year results, to be announced in the second half of 2014.
